LEAGUE GETS DEATH BLOW AT SAN REMO

World Union Vain Dream, Forget It Advises Lloyd George

San Remo, April 21.—What virtually amounts to the death knell of the League of Nations as constituted at present was sounded by Premier Lloyd George this morning when, after having hastily summoned the French and Italian premier, he delivered an impassioned speech hotly denouncing the present organization of the league as a time-losing machine likely to endanger rather than help the peace of the world.

The British premier's sensational pronouncement was provoked by France's protest against the Supreme Council's proposal to grant Germany another three months' delay in evacuating the Ruhr region. Premier Millerand had complained that one of the vital provisions of the league calls for the immediate disarmament of Germany. "Note—The covenant clause on this point applies to all countries."

It was then that Premier Lloyd George launched into his peroration, swaying his hearers with extraordinary eloquence. He more than hinted that the league covenant was only inserted into the Versailles treaty out of deference to President Wilson, and that now that Mr. Wilson is to all intents and purposes out of European politics, the time has come to clear the decks of impracticabilities and openly declare that the League of Nations is an impossible dream.

An intensely animated conversation followed. Premier Millerand finally agreeing to the three months' delay to Germany, which probably means early withdrawal of the French from Frankfurt, as was exclusively foreshadowed by Universal Service more than a week ago.

San Remo, April 21.—An unsuspecting world has just been fed another of those periodical doses of diplomatic "dope" designed to make it appear that there is lovely harmony where there is bitter antagonism.

Here is an eye-opener: All the reports that Britain and France have settled their differences that arose from France's "strong-arm" methods in Germany were made out of whole cloth. Today it was revealed that Premier Lloyd George and Nitti signed a private agreement previous to the convening of the conference here, mutually pledging Britain and Italy to support the policy of conciliation with Germany and give her all the help she needs to revive economically.

At the same time, however, by the understanding reached between Lloyd George and Nitti, both Britain and Italy are to join France in a loud protest to Germany against the latter's shilly-shally attitude toward the treaty fulfillment and a vigorous warning that she must "come across."

In other words, the old, old diplomatic game of playing both ends against the middle is in full swing once more, and the power or group of powers knowing their Machiavelli most thoroughly, win.

The protest and warning to Germany, and the admonition that she must disarm, are meant as a sop to France, while pains are taken meanwhile to assure Berlin that Britain's and Italy's credit accounts are open to Germany.

The question of German reparations was not considered urgent enough by Lloyd George and Nitti to discuss at this time. They will take up that subject later.

So far, therefore, the only point on which there is a semblance of harmony between the three entente powers is that Germany must disarm. But the hitch is in the method of making her, and on this the allies are still wide apart.

The Anglo-Italian deal, which, of course, covers far more than merely the policy toward Germany, is the sensation of the day among "insiders." It had been looked for ever since the suave Signor Nitti was seen in so many jovial chats with the "little wizard from Wales," in London, and more particularly since Italy refused to say a word of approval when France occupied Frankfurt, instead, siding with Britain, who strongly protested against that "demarche."

However, expected as it was, the actual news that the agreement is a "fait accompli" set this diplomatic world agog with a tremendous flow of gossip because of the far-reaching consequences it involves, bringing about as it is a virtual realignment of the whole European balance of power.

One interesting point that is only beginning to dawn upon observers is that the projected Baghdad railway, that eternal subject of friction between Germany and Britain in the pre-war days, and one of the invisible but powerful causes of the war, has quietly passed into British control. For appearances sake, it is true, Britain has consented to leave under the supervision of Italy, France and Greece those sections of the line that traverse territories under mandates to be held by those nations.

Constantinople An Obstacle Then there is Constantinople. The British are in control of that capital and are most likely to stay for Premier Lloyd George avers the troops will not be withdrawn until the Turks evacuate Erzrum, which is to be Armenia's outlet; this Turks show no intention of getting out of that big fortress city and the Armenians have no way of expelling them.

When allied statesmen object to Britain's policy of military occupation in the East, Lloyd George has as his trump card, the answer that France took Frankfurt, holds Frankfurt and means to stay in Frankfurt until the German Reichswehr gets out of the Ruhr district.

All things considered, diplomats here believe San Remo will prove the death bed of the Supreme Council as now constituted, and the conferences will end in the same sort of deadlock that has been the result of so many other interallied confabs.

However, this and the previous gatherings has procured some highly valuable results for Britain, for the larger world issues remain unsettled, the contract with Italy means another milestone in Britain's solidification of her position as the arbiter of Europe and the East.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTS TEACHERS FOR 1920-21

The Board of Trustees for the local graded and high school elected teachers for the coming year, at the regular monthly meeting, Monday night.

The members of faculty, as elected, are as follows: Vice president, Miss Lella Glenn; Miss Mary Marks, Mrs. S. O. Keown, Misses Mary Laura Pendleton, Alice Taylor and Winnie Dean Moseley. Prof. J. F. Bruner, president, had heretofore been re-elected.

Misses Glenn and Marks take the places made vacant by the resignation of Miss Belle Walker and Prof. W. S. Hill.

The corps of able teachers selected, insure a splendid school for this place during the coming year and the Board and community are to be congratulated for the well fitted teachers procured.

BOY LIFE IN THE KY. MASONIC HOME

In a letter recently received from William Bennett, son of Capt. W. E. Bennett deceased, to his Uncle and Aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Duke, a picture of their daily life in the Masonic Orphans' Home is portrayed and by permission of Mr. Duke we give that portion of William's letter to our readers:

"You asked me to write you and tell you what the boys do for amusement etc. Well, I will do the best I can: We have swings, see-saws, acting bars, sleds etc., on the playgrounds and we have lots of fun on them. In the afternoons the boys work in the shoe shop, boiler room, kitchen, printing office and manual training. On Saturday afternoons the largest boys get to go out in town. We go to school from 8:30 in the morning until 12:15, and in the evenings from 6:30 to 8 o'clock. On Monday, Thursday and Saturday nights we go to the Library, where we have many nice books to read.

We had a fine time Easter. In the morning, at breakfast, each received two nicely colored eggs, at dinner we received a large chocolate egg and a big slice of chocolate cake, all donated by Electra Chapter, O. E. S. On leaving the chapel that afternoon each child was presented a candy basket filled with candy eggs, and at supper we received nice candy eggs.

THREE MEN INJURED IN MOTOR CAR CRASH

Fractured Skull And Bones Result Of Trackmen's Car Jumping Rails

A serious accident took place Tuesday, just after noon, on the M. H. & E. Railroad, one mile north of Dukehurst, when the motor car in charge of Joy Wheeler, section foreman, left the rails, apparently without cause.

"Bud" Taylor was dangerously injured, he having suffered a fractured skull, the crushing of his left arm and painful injuries in the region of his hips and left shoulder. The exact extent of his injuries could not be determined. Shelby Lee sustained painful injuries about the head, and was otherwise badly bruised. Marvin Murphy was also bruised and considerably "stove up." The other five men who were on the car at the time escaped with slight bruises and the loss of small patches of skin, here and there.

The West-bound passenger, plied up the crew, including the injured, and brought them to Hartford, where the wounds of all were dressed by Drs. Pendleton and Riley, at the local depot. The men who were upon the car at the time it wrecked all reside at Sunnydale and were in the employ of the L. & N. R. Co., as trackmen on the Sunnydale section. The men state that the car was running at the rate of about 15 miles per hour when the accident occurred, which happened on the high dump near, or on, the Thomas Duke farm.

TOMATO PROPOSITION UP THIS AFTERNOON

A meeting will be held at the Court house this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the interest of the proposition to obtain a canning factory here for the packing of tomatoes. Mr. K. C. Westover of the Extension Department, Kentucky State University, a specialist in horticulture, will deliver an address which will be especially interesting to those who contemplate growing tomatoes to be used by the proposed plant to be established here. The Pocket Packing Company, of Evansville, Ind., will likewise have a representative here today, and every farmer and all others in reach, are urged to be present, as it is of much importance to this entire section.

PASTORS-SUNDAY SCHOOLS

As chairman of the Near East Relief fund campaign for Ohio County, I earnestly appeal to all Sunday School Superintendents to ask for, and see that their schools make donations at the earliest date possible. I also urge all ministers, of every denomination to make requests for contributions from their congregations for the relief of helpless and starving Armenians. Religious organizations and societies are doing this throughout the United States. So let Ohio County answer the call of suffering humanity, and in this manner serve the Master.

NO VEIL OF GUISE FOUND AT SAN REMO

Soft Phrases And Meaningless Terms Not In Use By Diplomats

San Remo, April 19.—At the end of the first day of its deliberations the Inter-allied supreme council drafted a reply to President Wilson's recent note on the Turkish peace treaty to certain clauses of which the President had objected.

Further discussion of the Turkish settlement was shelved pending Mr. Wilson's reply. The note, it is understood, complains that American nonrepresentation at the San Remo conference is delaying the Turkish settlement. It asserts that America's assent is necessary to render the treaty operative.

San Remo, April 19.—"Well gentlemen, here we are all in the garden of Eden—I wonder who will play the snake."

It was thus that Premier Lloyd George greeted Premiers Millerand, of France, and Nitti, of Italy, just before the first of a series of momentous interallied conferences here today.

It was one of those happy phrases that elicit hearty laughter from all and yet contain more truth than poetry. The disappearance of the well-worn words "humanity, civilization, justice and right" from the diplomatic vocabulary is the outstanding feature of the San Remo conference, to which each premier has come with the unshakable resolve to fight for the individual interests of his own nation.

Hypocrisy's Veil Removed.

The veil of hypocrisy that has enveloped innumerable inter-allied conferences in the past, even those various chamber sessions where diplomats sat face to face and saw with perfect clarity one thru the other's pious phrases, has been torn away with a sudden swish. It must be said that this comes as a relief to the statesmen who are schooled in the old-time game of give-and-take and balance of power and division of spoils, while helpless novices in that nobler, but less profitable game of freedom and talk of justice for all.

Moreover, the European peoples themselves, long since convinced that the high sounding diplomatic verbiage "got nowhere," have been clamoring for this new old way of tackling the big world issues. The other having failed to bring forth anything but shattered hopes, they now rely upon this return to pre-war method for speedy construction settlement that will bring order out of chaos.

Obstacles Seen Ahead.

With the barriers down, however, some diplomatists see many obstacles in the path of the San Remo delegates who may find it difficult to consolidate the war-time alliance if they insist each upon his own nation's "pound of flesh."

All delegates, of course, are pledged to secrecy, but enough has leaked out to allow the following brief sketch of the situation:

Premier Millerand insists on the strict application of the Versailles treaty and the complete disarmament of Germany.

Premier Lloyd George, nitho concurring in this viewpoint, intends to retain and solidify for Britain the position of sole arbiter in possible future differences between France and Germany, in order to prevent either nation from achieving too great a degree of power likely to jeopardize British hegemony in Europe.

Furthermore, the British prime minister proposes to insist on unquestioned British supremacy in the Near East.

Premier Nitti brings to the conference a considerable degree of his countrymen's national feeling and resentment against the allies, who are openly accused by the bulk of the Italian people of having cheated their country out of their legitimate war spoils.

Moreover, Italy's economic and financial situation is described as so precarious, as to compel the government to undertake a decided turnabout towards the former central empires and Russia. In drawing closer to those countries, it is argued, Italy would go a long way toward shaking off Britain's economic strangle hold on her while at the same time establishing a counter balance of powers capable of holding out against England.

50 YEARS IN WEDLOCK

Capt. and Mrs. S. K. Cox, of this place enjoyed the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage Tuesday. The event was not celebrated in any special manner, only the two (we nearly said old people) enjoying the day marking the passage of a half century of almost daily association in home life.

Capt. and Mrs. Cox are both well preserved and are blessed with excellent health not only for people of their age, but the average person a score or more of years younger will suffer in comparison with them, in both physical and mental activity. Capt. Cox was, some years ago, perhaps the best known man in this whole section, having been active in the political and business life of Ohio County over a long span of years.

We join the many friends of Capt. and Mrs. Cox in wishing for them many happy returns of this day adding to the fiftieth anniversary of their wedded life, and that the day may find them in possession of all of their present capabilities for the full enjoyment of life while awaiting the final, golden harvest, which must find each considerably beyond the allotted three score and ten mark.

LUNACY INQUESTS HELD TWO ADJUDGED INSANE

Inquests as to the sanity of two persons were held in Court here Wednesday: Mrs. Thomas Render, of near Beaver Dam, was adjudged a person of unsound mind, as was Roy Baugh, both were ordered committed to the Western Kentucky Asylum for care and treatment.

PEACE MEASURE TO BE REVISED

Senate Committee For Including Both Austria And Germany

Washington, April 20.—Peace with Austria as well as Germany will be declared in the resolution which the Senate Foreign Relations Committee will report to the Senate. The resolution will be a substitute for the Porter resolution passed by the House, which declared peace with Germany only.

The Senate resolution also will provide for the repeal of all war legislation, including the espionage act, the Overman act and others which conferred extraordinary powers on the executive departments of the government more successfully to prosecute the war, but which remain on the statute books despite the fact that the war has long been over.

The form of the resolution was discussed at an executive session of the committee today. The Republican members of the committee are united in favoring a new resolution instead of the Porter resolution, and of including both Austria and Germany in the declaratory resolution. It is believed the resolution will be agreed upon in the committee before the end of this week. Action in the Senate early next week is looked for.

In Favor of Redraft.

The objections raised by Republican senators to the Porter resolution are that it contains too many matters and that the vote by which it was passed in the House demonstrates conclusively that it could not be passed over a veto if the President should reject it.

The resolution will start out with a formal repeal of the resolution which declared war to exist between the United States and Germany, will declare commercial and trade relations re-established and will repeal by name many of the emergency acts which were put thru as war legislation.

Ignore Hitchcock's Absence.

Republican members of the committee indicated today that they will go ahead with their plans to report the peace resolution to the Senate irrespective of whether Senator Hitchcock and other administration leaders are here or not. When Senator Hitchcock left Washington to begin his campaign in Nebraska he asked Senator Lodge to postpone action on the resolution until he returned. Senator Lodge was unable to give such a promise, however, and the resolution will come from the committee by a party vote within a few days.

Senator Lodge and other Republicans on the committee take the position that the Democrats intend to oppose the resolution anyway so there is no necessity for postponing action on it until they are all here.

PAYS GOOD PRICE FOR TWO DOG TAGS

Mr. R. P. Coleman, of Beaver Dam, answered a summons in County Court recently, to show cause as to why he had not listed and procured tags for his dogs. The two tags procured, coming through the County Court, cost him $17.00.

Again we remind those who have not heeded the statute in the matter of the tag and dog tax proposition, that by going to the County Clerk's Office, they may yet list their dogs, pay the regular fees and escape the payment of fines and cost. We say they may do so, prosecutions are not apt to be instituted against those who, even at this late day comply with the injunction to pay the tax and secure ever present evidence, the tag to be worn by the dog.

OHIO COUNTY GETS ANOTHER MOTOR TRUCK

In a recent allotment of trucks to Kentucky, by the Federal Government, Ohio County drew a three ton Peerless truck, for road working and improvement purposes. The truck has been loaded and will be received at an early date. This makes three trucks received by Ohio County from the Government, and if properly cared for they can be made of great service in road improvement work in the County.

MOB SEEKING LIFE OF NEGRO IS FOILED

Danville, Ky., Crowd Fails To Get Black Accused Of Boy's Abduction

Danville, Ky., April 17.—A mob of 400 persons was balked by a ruse tonight as officials spirited away from the Court House Lucien Jenkins, 23 years old, negro, held as the man who last night abducted 7-year-old Willie H. Trimble, carried him to a cornfield and there fractured his skull by blows with a hammer.

Or news that Jenkins was being questioned by officials in the County Clerk's office on the boy's statement that he was the kidnapper, a crowd gathered in Court House Square until it reached proportions of a mob. It elected a leader and no effort was made to storm the Court House, but guards stationed themselves at both front and rear entrances to see that the negro was not removed.

Proof Not Strong.

Sheriff Harris addressed the crowd about 9 o'clock, declaring that proof against the negro was not strong and appealed that no hasty action be taken.

In the meantime, County and City officials closeted with the negro in the Court House, realized that a ruse must be employed to get the negro away. They telephoned for an automobile to be sent to a certain point near the rear of the Court House. County Attorney Henry Jenkins then was sent out to address the crowd and direct their attention from the front of the building.

As the County Attorney walked out the front door was barred and lights were turned out. He urged the crowd to go to the law take its course, declaring evidence against the negro was not an indirect character.

Rush Into Building

Then Sheriff Harris and Chief of Police Thurmond and two other officials, with the negro in the center, immediately walked out the rear door. Members of the mob at the rear entrance were completely outwitted.

When the County Attorney concluded his appeal, the front door was unlocked and the mob made a mad rush into the building, searching every room and vault. While the sheriff needed to requests to unlock the doors, two or three doors were broken down by more impatient members.

The mob then demanded that the hall be searched and a committee of six or seven was taken through by the jailer.

The committee then announced Jenkins was not there. Within ten or fifteen minutes the crowd dispersed.

Chief of Police Thurmond, who returned after midnight, was silent as to where the negro had been taken.

Half-Wit Is Arrested

Keith Phillips, a half-witted boy, tonight declared that he was with a negro who seized the boy last night. He was unable to identify Jenkins as the man.

This led the police tonight to a spot a half mile from the Trimble home where a jar and basket, which had contained the milk and eggs which the boy carried, were concealed. Phillips is in jail.

The Trimble had this morning declared it was the white man who struck him. After he had recovered consciousness from the operation to tonight he declared it was the negro.

Boy Accuses Jenkins

The boy, who disappeared at 7 o'clock last night and staggered into his home at 6 o'clock this morning, blood-covered and semi-conscious, declared before he was placed on the examining table that Jenkins was one of the two men who abducted him.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Marcus Trimble, wife of a stationary fireman, and an argument with the negro, who is a delivery boy for a grocery, yesterday afternoon. During the argument, it is said, Mr. Trimble appeared and told the negro he would kill him if he ever disparaged his wife's word again.

Jenkins, when arrested this morning, declared he was at a picture show at the time of the boy's disappearance.

The Trimble boy was in a serious condition at the hospital here tonight after fracturing of his skull. He disappeared last night at 7 o'clock while on his way home from a neighbor's with eggs and butter.

Last as a posse, which had searched for him all night, disbanded this morning, the lad entered his home. He was hardly able to talk, but told of now a white man and a negro had seized and carried him to a cornfield, telling him they were rounding up all little boys. He was then struck on the head with a hammer. When he regained consciousness early this morning he was in a barn several hundred yards away.

MARY PICKFORD IS CHARGED WITH FRAUD

Reno, Nev., April 16.—Mary Pickford must face charges of wholesale collusion, conspiracy, fraud and untruthful testimony with the object of defeating California and Nevada laws on marriage and divorce and to deceive the District Judge in Nevada before whom the case was heard.

A 7000-word complaint was filed today by the Attorney General of Nevada. He asks that her decree of divorce granted March 2, 1920, in Minden, Nev., be set aside. The suit was filed this afternoon in the same court in which Mrs. Moore was given a decree.

The complaint alleges that Mary Pickford's testimony was false, untrue and fabricated from beginning to end, with exception of testimony as to her marriage to Owen Moore. The cause of the action against Moore is declared to be fabricated. Moore is charged with conspiring and colluding with his wife to confer jurisdiction on the Nevada court by coming to Minden for the sole purpose of accepting service of the papers in the divorce case.

Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford are charged with conspiring to defeat the intent of the California law which requires that one year shall elapse before either party to a divorce suit is free to wed again.

The marriage in Los Angeles subsequent to the decree being granted, which is characterized as "pretended," is cited as a circumstance in support of the allegation that there was an agreement to wed on the part of Mary Pickford and Fairbanks long before going to Minden, March 15.

Frank P. Langan, the Judge who heard the case and granted the decree, will be disqualified from hearing the State's suit to set aside the decree by the State. He will be asked to give testimony to show that Mary Pickford endeavored to deceive the court by posing under an assumed personality.

Mrs. Moore was introduced to the Judge in the courtroom a few minutes before she took the witness stand as "Miss Gladys Smith."

MINERS GET 21 CENTS TON INCREASE IN PAY

Baltimore, April 17.—Mine workers and operators today agreed on a wage scale at their conference here. The new scale, which represents virtually a 45 per cent increase over the "pick" and "machine" mining of bituminous coal in thin and thick seams and for wide and narrow rock. It means miners will get a flat 24-cent increase a ton over the present rates.

CHEMISTS MAKE GAS OF REFUSE

Department Of Agriculture Develops Cheap Fuel For Motors

Washington, April 17.—Henry Ford's proposal to run trolley cars around the streets of large cities with fuel made from straw soon may be eclipsed by an achievement of the Bureau of Chemistry of the Department of Agriculture, provided Congress helps out.

On a vacant lot near Arlington National Cemetery experts of the department are busily engaged trying to stretch out a meager appropriation to cover the building of a small plant, the principal features of which are to be a large retort, a cleanser and a large gas container. Into this plant, when completed, provided the appropriation holds out, experts will dump straw, cotton stalks, corn stalks and even dried leaves. Then will ensue a process known to the initiated as "destructive distillation," and gradually the reservoir, or container will be filled with a gas, resembling water gas.

With this gas it would be possible to run motor-driven trolley cars, automobiles and stationary engines. Given such equipment the farmer could run his farm machinery, fill his water tanks and light his house and barn. According to H. E. Roethe, of the Bureau of Chemistry, there is no doubt that gas of these qualities can be made from the materials named.

Economy Is Question.

The question to be solved is whether the gas can be made for these purposes economically enough to make it practicable, and whether the necessary container for the gas can be made compact enough to be carried around on automobiles and trolley cars and thus extend its use to ordinary transportation needs.

"So far as making the gas is concerned," said Mr. Roethe this afternoon, "the problem already has been solved at the University of Saskatchewan, Canada, where I worked for some time. There we made gas from straw, and rigged up a large bag as a container, with a capacity for about 1,000 cubic feet of the gas. This bag we attached to the roof of an automobile and ran the gas directly into the carburetor, which was of the ordinary type used on automobiles. The engine of the automobile was of the standard type.

"With this fuel we ran the automobile around the neighboring country without the slightest difficulty. It works on the same combustion principle as gasoline, though in adjusting the carburetor it is necessary to shut off all the air. This is due to the fact that the gas as manufactured contains all the oxygen it needs for combustion, and the admission of any air would simply weaken horsepower produced.

"Whether the proposition is feasible from a commercial standpoint, however, is a feature of the problem that we have just begun to attack. The outlook is promising. Of course, if we solve this end of it, uses for the gas are practically limitless. Once a plant for its manufacture is set up—and the plant itself is a simple one—all that remains is gathering of the straw, corn-stalks, leaves or other litter of the sort."

It was pointed out at the Bureau that the difference between the Department's proposition and the Ford idea is that the latter, instead of producing gas from straw, undertakes to make fuel alcohol, a problem to which the Bureau of Standards addressed itself with considerable success several years ago, under the encouragement of former Secretary of Commerce William C. Redfield.

"Our main difficulty at present," said Mr. Roethe, "is as to whether the small appropriation which Congress was willing to grant us, will be sufficient to enable us to complete our experiments."

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

THE UNITED STATES
BIGGEST BATTLESHIP

The Maryland, claimed to be the greatest war craft in the world, was recently launched at Newport News, Va. The length of the vessel is 600 feet, and the width at the water line 98 feet. It has two funnels, two masts, a normal displacement of 32,000 tons and a speed of 21 knots. The ship will carry eight 16-inch guns mounted on a vessel.

The Maryland is electrically driven by four propellers, the power for which is furnished by turbines approximating 29,000 horsepower. Steam is furnished by eight oil-burning boilers. The Maryland is the 4th electrically propelled battleship of the United States. It is a sister ship of the California which is being put into commission at the Mare Island navy yard, San Francisco.

The Maryland's keel was laid Apr. 24, 1917, 18 days after the United States had declared war on Germany. More than 12,000 people witnessed the launching, including Secretary of the Navy Daniels, and Gov. Ritchie, of Maryland. The sponsor was Mrs. E. H. Lee, wife of the controller of Maryland. Many high officers of the navy and army were present. A naval yacht carrying a delegation of Maryland congressmen failed to arrive in time for the launching. It ran aground on a sand bank in the dark and was delayed over three hours.

It seems that we are again in for a race with the other nations for naval supremacy. Secretary of the Navy Daniels, though supposed to be a man of peace, has said all along that we must have "incomparably the biggest navy in the world." He warned congress only a few days ago that we must go ahead and have a huge fleet in the Pacific in order to combat Japan's growing ambitions there.

Shortly after the news of the launching of our record breaking Maryland battleship, with her armament of eight 16-inch guns, the news came from Japan that that country had just laid the keel of a still bigger dreadnaught, 700 feet long, of 40,000 tons displacement and mounting 10 16-inch guns. So you see we must plan still bigger ships.

THE BATTLESHIP PROBLEM

Can the battleship survive the development of modern methods of attack? Experts differ on the subject, but England takes the affirmative view and shows her faith by launching the Hood, $30,000,000 fortress of the sea. Those who believe that the gigantic vessels of war will be made obsolete by the increasing effectiveness of the airplane and the submarine may find some difficulty in meeting the arguments and refuting the assertions of Archibald Hurd in the Fortnightly Review.

"Not a single British warship was destroyed, either by airship or airplane, in the course of the long war," Mr. Hurd recalls and he adds that in the four and a half years of strife no battleship, battle cruiser or cruiser of the grand fleet was destroyed as the result of a submarine attack. The submarines were perilous mainly to the unarmed merchant vessels, and at the close of the war had been practically driven from the seas.

However, Mr. Hurd does not give the heavier types of ships much credit for their immunity. He attributes this principally to the speedy and intrepid destroyers which drew an impenetrable wall about the heavier vessels. The Hood, however, is more capable of self-defense.

It is equipped with anti-aircraft guns and is fast enough to run away from any submarine devised to date. It has a speed of thirty-one knots, which is about twice that of the undersea boats on the surface and four times as fast as the subs under water. Moreover, it is equipped with "histers" at and under the waterline to absorb torpedo explosions. The vessel's decks are provided with special armor to resist descending charges.

The battleship problem is of distinct interest in this country now, for America is engaged in carrying out a battleship construction programme of unparalleled dimensions. If world peace is to remain an unattainable ideal it is consoling to believe that the great vessels being built will represent something more than obsolescent junk.—Louisville Times.

Transfer Service

I ask the patronage of the citizens of Hartford and the traveling public in general for the following reasons:

During the past 3 years I have tried to serve you well and have made regular trips between Hartford and Beaver Dam, rain or shine, summer and winter, good roads and bad. Others have not made regular trips and only serve you in good weather.

I charged you only 50c and war tax, through the winter just the same as in summer.

Others are charging 75c. I have never failed to give Hartford a good word or do its citizens a good deed whenever the opportunity presented itself.

My cars leave Hartford at the following hours: 4 a. m.; 9:40 a. m.; 12:30 p. m.; 2 p. m.; and 7 p. m. Hartford headquarters at Casebier & Taylor's Restaurant.

I sincerely thank you for the many favors of the past and cordially invite your patronage for the future.

GERMANY PAYS PART OF DEBT

Nation Will Live On Crusts If Held To Obligations, Noske Says.

By Karl H. Von Wiegand

Berlin, April 17.—Germany already has paid twenty billion in gold marks of the reparations installment due on May 1.

This statement was made to me today by one of the leading German bankers.

"The first obligation was met," he said, "and gives hope that Germany will be able to meet her other obligations, provided the allies, especially France, become reasonable and do not drive our country into the arms of Bolshevism."

Debt Causes Stir.

The announcement by Minister of Finance Wirth that Germany's total indebtedness now amounts to 197,000,000,000 marks (normally $42,250,000,000) caused a stir in business circles.

At the banks, however, it was pointed out that France's aggregate debt is given at 400,000,000,000 francs (normally $80,000,000,000).

The new wage demands of the German railway men and employes of the posts, telegraphs and other services are expected to total another 15,000,000,000 marks.

Bankers declare that in the circumstances the reluctance of America to sink more money into Europe is understandable, but without aid from the United States they see no way out, they declare.

"We are haggard, but our people do not realize it yet," remarked Gustav Noske to me in discussing the economic situation of Germany. "We will have to live on crusts and wear rags for decades under the Versailles treaty, and therein lies the danger of a popular explosion in Germany—a danger which is but little appreciated outside of our own country."

Others speak with bitterness of the Entente's demand for the delivery of the remaining German mercantile ships of from 100 to 1,600 tons.

LINCOLN'S ADVICE.

Abraham Lincoln gave some pretty good advice when he said: "Teach economy. That it is one of the first and highest virtues. It begins with the saving of money." It would be interesting to know just how many parents in this country have waked up to the fact that the teachers in our schools have organized their pupils into Thrift Clubs and are giving them systematic instruction in Thrift and Saving. If you are a parent, let your child's teacher know you appreciate this training being given for success and prosperity. And don't forget it is a duty of every parent to set his child a wise example. UNION VETERANS TO MUSTER OUT BY 1945

Soldiers Of 61-65 To Hear Last Bugle Call In Few Years

BY MARVIN MURPHY.
(In Courier-Journal)

Washington, April 17.—Some-where in the United States there is a veteran of the Civil War who—though of course he does not suspect the fact—is destined to be the last survivor of the 2,000,000 men who were in the Union Army.

This man, when he dies, will be more than 105 years old. It is not at all impossible that he may be nearer 110.

The Government here in Washington has the matter all carefully figured out, so that it knows almost with certainty just about how many Civil War veterans will be alive in each coming year, up to the time when the last of them will answer the final bugle and be mustered out.

The reckoning is based mainly upon data furnished by twenty-odd life insurance companies and, dealing as it does with such great numbers of individuals, serious error in averages virtually is eliminated. Necessarily the figures are only approximate, but they may be accepted as nearly exact.

All Will Be Gone By 1945

Twenty years from now, in 1940, there will be about 340 Civil War veterans surviving. All of them, of course, will be very old—the youngest of them well on in the nineties—and having reached the extreme limit of life, they will die off rapidly. All of them will be gone by 1945, but the last old soldier may linger almost until then.

With advancing age the death rate of the old soldiers is increasing, and may be expected further to increase with the progress of the years.

Thus, five years from now there will be only 116,073, the Government estimates. In 1930, according to the reckoning, 37,032 veterans of the Civil War still will be living. Five years later they will number only 6,296; and, as already said, in 1940 there will be but 340 survivors.

Though the Civil War ended fifty-five years ago, the Federal Pension Bill, which has just passed the House and is now pending in the Senate, carries $214,000,000 and demonstrates once more that the burdens of war do not end with the war generation.

While no one may begrudge the amount paid to the survivors of the Civil War, or the allowances to the widows and orphans, for whom Lincoln urged a nation's care and remembrance, the annual pension bill has become one of the major appropriation measures of the Federal Government.

The veterans die, many of them each year, but the increased pensions allowed those who still live on—partly because of a country's gratitude and partly because of the high cost of living—hold up the total.

Still Paying for War of 1812
"Uncle Joe" Cannon, member of the Appropriations Committee of the House, submitted the following data in explanation of the current bill:

Eighty-one widows of fighters who fought more than a century ago in the War of 1812 were on pension rolls on June 30, 1919.

At the close of the last fiscal year the Civil War pensioners numbered 568,343.

There were still living 2,956 pensioners accredited to the war with Mexico.

The Indian wars are responsible for the presence on the rolls of more than 5,000 pensioners.

There were 16,391 pensioners residing in Kentucky. They were paid $5,835,523.85 in 1919.

Since 1790 the United States Government has paid more than $6,500,000,000 in pensions. Of this sum, approximately $5,300,000,000 went to pensioners of the Civil War.

New Law For World War Vets.

An interesting statement of the pension apportionment among veterans of various wars in which the United States engaged is supplied by Mr. Cannon. In round figures he reports that from 1790 to 1919 inclusive, the Federal pension payments have been as follows:

War of the Revolution, $70,000,000; War of 1812, $46,000,000; Indian wars, $16,700,000; Civil War, $5,299,000,000; Spanish-American War and Philippine Insurrection, $65,211,000; regular establishment, $50,000,000; War of 1917, $37,275 (this small amount being to pensioners entitled to such before the war insurance act became effective in October, 1917); unclassified, $16,503,000.

Reduction Due to Deaths Slight
In addition to the $214,000,000 carried in the current bill, the House committee says that if pension legislation now before Congress is finally approved, there must be a further appropriation of about $77,000,000. These pending bills propose another increase to pensioners of the Civil War, the Philippine Insurrection and the China Relief Expedition.

Although there has been a net loss of more than 22,000 persons since the last pension bill, the reduction in the current bill as compared with that for the last fiscal year, is only about $1,000,000. Failure of the reduction to keep pace with the number of deaths of the veterans and their widows is due to steady increase in the amounts allowed.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon shows how the Civil War veterans are passing over in his report:

"The amount recommended for 1921, $214,000,000 is believed by the committee and the Commissioner of pensions to be sufficient to pay all pensions under existing laws.

"The number of pensions upon the rolls on June 30, 1919, was 624,427, which was a net decrease during the year from July 1, 1918, of 22,468.

Losses to the roll by remarriages, minors attaining the age of 16, and other causes, aggregated 1,597, so that the gross loss during the period was 50,752. This loss was partly offset by the addition of 28,284 persons through original allowances and restorations and renewals, so that the net loss to the rolls was 22,468.

"However it should be said that if pending legislation affecting pensions is enacted a very large addition must be made to appropriations proposed in this bill. The House has passed a bill to revise and equalize rates of pensions to certain soldiers, sailors and marines of the Civil War; to certain widows former widows dependent parents and children of such soldiers, sailors and marines, and to certain army nurses, and granting pensions and increase of pensions in certain cases." It is estimated during the first year of its operations this act would require an additional sum of $65,000,000.

"The House also has just passed an act to pension soldiers of the War with Spain, the Philippine Insurrection and the China Relief Expedition. It is estimated this would require an additional sum of 12,500,000."

Representative Cannon figures that the average annual payment to pensioners is $346.39.

Of the States, Ohio harbored the largest number of pensioners at the close of the last fiscal year. There were 60,902 in Ohio, 59,072 in Pennsylvania, 43,976 in Illinois, 53,736 in New York, 30,660 in Missouri and 37,647 in Indiana.

Scattered in Southern States are many thousands of Federal pensioners who are now living amidst their foes of the sixties. The figures show Alabama, 2,156; Florida, 3,553; Georgia, 2,192; Louisiana, $3,533; Mississippi, 2,562; South Carolina, 1,275; Texas, 5,905; Virginia, 4,220.

A total of 125 pensioners are living in the insular possessions of the United States and in foreign countries there are 3,747, whose pension checks are mailed to them.

TAKE PEPTO-MANGAN

It Isn't Sleep You Need, But a Good
Tonic—More Red Blood

Everyone gets run down occasionally. Sometimes it's weeks before you get your energy, enthusiasm and happiness back again.

Any doctor will tell you to be careful in a time like this. Your body has little power of resistance, and the danger of catching some serious disease is great. Temporarily, your blood has too few "fighting corpuscles."

It's the work of these same red corpuscles to keep you free from fatigue. Being constantly tired out—depressed in body and mind—is almost a sure sign that your blood needs help for a time. Gude's Pepto-Mangan is a standard remedy in cases of anemia (or bloodlessness). It supplies the iron and other properties your blood needs to catch up with its task of keeping you fresh and alert in every fibre.

Pepto-Mangan has the hearty endorsement of physicians, is an agreeable tonic to take and may be had at any drug store in either liquid or tablet form. Both have same medicinal value.

Be sure to ask for Gude's. There is only one genuine Pepto-Mangan, and the name "Gude's" should be on the package.—Advertisement.

U. S. TO CEASE BUYING BONDS

Treasury Loans For Pur- chases Tighten Credits Causing Slump

Washington, April 17.—Govern-ment purchase of Liberty bonds in the open market, except through operation of the sinking fund, will stop July 1, Secretary Houston announced tonight. A "beneficial effect" on the bond market was expected to result, he said. Other officials said the market in Government securities had already begun to right itself, and that bond quotations hereafter might be expected to trend upward.

Mr. Houston explained that in continuing purchase of bonds under the 5 per cent bond purchase fund, the Government was increasing its floating debt while decreasing its funded debt.

He said current requirements of the Government were such that, if purchase of bonds were to continue, the treasury would have to issue more certificates of indebtedness with which to buy them.

Stabilizing Market, Law's Aim

The 5 per cent bond purchasing arrangement was planned by Congress to expire automatically one year after the termination of war, but the Secretary of the Treasury was empowered to decide when it had served the purpose of stabilizing the bond market—the underlying reason for its original enactment into law.

Mr. Houston's decision, however, was based largely on the fact that July 1 the 2½ per cent sinking fund provided in the Victory loan act becomes operative. He said it was not his intention to treat the two funds as cumulative, but to end one with the beginning of the other. The approximate amount, set aside by the Treasury for use in the period between now and July 1 will be taken over by the War Finance Corporation which will make all purchases of bonds for which funds are available until the expiration date.

Hereafter such purchases as the Treasury may make for the bond purchase fund will be "occasional and not habitual," Mr. Houston said.

Slump Laid To Forced Sales

The low levels to which bonds have fallen were attributed by Mr. Houston to forced liquidation by heavy bond purchasers—large industrial and other corporations—who have been under pressure to find funds to finance their current expenditure. He added that this had come when it had been necessary for measures to be invoked which would control credit and make bank loans both difficult and expensive.

No announcement was made regarding the amount of bonds retired through the 5 per cent purchase funds. All bonds bought were obtained by the Treasury at a discount ranging from 2 to 7 per cent, thus saving the Government both the interest for the life of the bond as well as the difference between their par value and the market quotation.

"I believe the time has come," Mr. Houston said, "when the disappearance of the Government from the market, except as an occasional purchaser, will have a beneficial effect on the market for bonds and notes, both by reducing the Treasury's current borrowings on Treasury certificates of indebtedness and stimulating the interest of investment bankers and the public in the market for Liberty and Victory securities. This offers a unique opportunity to investors, large and small, the quotations for the bonds being extremely attractive to investing institutions as well as private investors."

MORROW FIGHTS TO KEEP CAMP TAYLOR

Governor Morrow, who returned to Frankfort yesterday from the East, has requested a hearing before the Senate Committee regarding retention of Camp Taylor as a permanent army camp, and feels that if his request is granted he will be able to make some headway to that end.

The status of the camp, so far as Washington is concerned, has not changed, the Governor said, but he feels now, by reason of investigations pursued by him while in Washington, that he has something tangible on which to work.

War Department officials and members of the War College interviewed by the Governor told him that the Senate Committee was the real stumbling block in the way of a permanent army camp here, but as yet the Governor has not been able to ascertain the reasons back of the opposition. He hopes to get at the real facts, however, if granted a Senate Committee hearing.

HOWAT TO INSTRUCT MINERS TO RETURN TO WORK

Pittsburg, Kan., April 17.—Judge Andrew J. Curran today ordered Alexander Howatt and other officials of the Kansas Miners' Union to order back to work the 11,000 miners who have been idle for a week.

The action was taken on motion of R. J. Hopkins, Attorney General of Kansas, for permission to amend the petition of the State for a permanent injunction against a strike.

The judge ordered the union officials to act on his instructions or show cause for not doing so in court April 27.

Bonds for Howatt and other miners' union officials held in the jails in Ottawa and Iowa, were approved by Judge Curran and A. B. Keller, County Attorney, notified sheriffs to release the men and give them transportation to Pittsburg.

"Hill" yelled the loud-mouthed person at the man chasing his hat down the street. "Why don't you nail it on?"

"That's what I'd do," remarked the hatless, "if my head was made of the same material yours is."—Capper's Weekly.

U. S. Investigation Proves Young American Shot in Germany Was Connected With Reds

Washington, April 17.—A complete report to the State Department today by Maj. Reginald Foster, military attaché of the American commission at Berlin, reveals that Paul R. De Mott, of Paterson, N. J., who was shot while attempting to escape from prison at Muhlheim, Germany, had in his possession papers which connected him directly with the Reds of the Ruhr district and the Lenin government of Russia.

Sewed in the young man's shirt was a letter addressed to Trotsky and another notorious Bolshevik. This fact was verified by both the American and the German investigation. Major Foster's report and the result of the German investigation have been forwarded to the Berlin authorities, who will report to Secretary of State Coby for final action by this government.

21 GERMAN WAR BRIDES ARRIVE ON TRANSPORT

New York, April 17.—Twenty-one German war brides of American soldiers and 1,149 Polish troops, the first contingent of American citizens of Polish descent who enlisted and fought in the Polish army during the World War, arrived here tonight on the army transport Antigon from Danzig and Antwerp. The vessel also brought back 1,047 United States troops and officers and a large cargo of army stores.

There were only four automobiles in the United States in 1896.

STRIKING RAIL MEN REFUSED HEARING

Labor Board Turns Deaf Ear To Those Making Trouble

Washington, April 19.—The Railroad Labor Board announced today that it would not consider complaints from striking railroad men.

The board's statement said it would not "receive, entertain or consider" any application or complaint from any parties who were not complying with the transportation act or who were not adopting every means to avoid interruption of the operation of the railroads growing out of any disputes.

Immediately after the statement was made public spokesmen from striking railroad men in New York, New Jersey, New England and the Middle West were received by the board. They were accompanied by Representatives Egan and McGinnis, of New Jersey.

Request for an immediate hearing by the representatives of the strikers was denied. Chairman Barton said that under the rules adopted by the board written complaint must first be filed with the secretary showing by express statement and facts set out that the dispute was one which the board was authorized to consider.

The board's statement follows: "It is decided and ordered by the board as one of the rules governing its procedure that as the law under which this board was created and organized makes it the duty of both carriers and their employees and subordinate officials having difficulties and disputes to have and hold conferences between representatives of the different parties and interests, to consider and if possible to decide such disputes in conference, and where such dispute is not decided in such conference to refer it to this board to hear and decide, and it is further contemplated and provided by the law that pending such conference reference to and bearing by this board it shall be the duty of all carriers their officers, employees and agents to exert every reasonable effort and adopt every available means to avoid any interruption to the operation of any carrier growing out of any such disputes; therefore this board will not receive, entertain or consider any application from or by any party, parties or their representatives who have not complied with or who are not complying with the provisions of the law or who are not exerting every reasonable effort and adopting every available means to avoid any interruption to the operation of any carrier growing out of any dispute between the carrier and employees."

Representative Egan asked the board to hear Edward McHugh of New York, representing the strikers in the metropolitan district, so he might take back to them some word that the board would take action quickly.

W. N. Doak, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, protested. Mr. McHugh told the board that he had sent by registered mail to the chairman of the board a week ago a copy of their complaint.

The board then went into executive session.

Declaring there were 8,000 men out in New York who were waiting word from him that the board would grant substantial increases, McHugh said he would try again to get the case before the board as the men represented would not return to work until the board had agreed to work.

FRIDAY,.....APRIL 23

The City of Louisville has not yet annexed West Point, Elizabethtown, or Shepherdsville. But given time it may do so.

"The Gold-Pen Incident, following
the close of the war; the race question to be tactfully dealt with; the bill originated and passed by the Democrats, signed by Morrow and the pen, given to a "Nigger," we frankly confess our ignorance, we don't know what it is all about. We are told that it was done to coddle the "nigger" vote. If true, we presume that from the same point of reasoning the Democrats originated and passed the measure as a coddling project. All that we have seen upon the momentous question looks a bit coddling to us.

Just why all the rest of us should undergo the burdens of taxation that those who have been so lucky as to be appointed to an office and hold it for years and years, under civil service regulations, then when a certain age has been attained, retire on a life pension, is something more than we, in our shallow methods of thinking are able to fathom. No set of clerks and workers in any other line of employment in the United States work under better conditions or shorter hours
than does the average civil service employee of the Government. The worn out coal digger, the farmer, the hodgepinner, or even the newspaper man is as much entitled to retire on a pension as is a government employee. Of all the unjust methods of absolutely giving away the people's tax money, and a fair sample of rank class legislation, the pensioning of retired Government officials and employees, hits the spot about as center
as any we can think of. If you work for the Government why provide for a rainy day?

One of the best planks the coming Republican National Convention
can contain is, exact justice to all,
honestly caring for the interests of every patriotic child of the Republic,
whether he be upon the high seas, on the border of, within Mexico or elsewhere, and scrupulously minding
our own business, ever letting our first thought and labors be for the righteous interest of the Nation as a whole. The Nation is, or ought to be, like unto an household, as one big family, and whether it be a divine edict or not, it is most assuredly a divine right and a course always pursued by the good of the land, to first and best care for those who, by the ties of home, have claims upon them.
We are against anything that would change the order of procedure for the Nation as much as if it were a move to change our activities for the use and benefit of our own family
to that of your's or the neighborhood in general. The Great God of the Universe didn't intend that I should love and serve your offspring as I do my own, that I should go to the relief of your brother first when mine was equally in need. If this sentiment be a condemning sin, then no less than 95 or a hundred million of American subjects, when their hearts are laid bare, will expose a scar sending them straight into hell.

We are bound to differ with Brother Barrett, of the Herald. One would think, to read the editorial in the current issue, that nearly all Democrats were for sale on election days.
Now, we don't believe any such a thing, not a bit of it. The Herald, speaking of the use of money in elections, says "It was literally poured out of the Republican strong box in the State election last fall and we may expect them to try to repeat the performance in 1920." Yes, we verily believe that the thing is going to be repeated in 1920 and so do most men who have watched the trend of political affairs. I mean the result, brother, not that it will be brought out by the wholesale debauchery of Democrats, nor do we believe that the result last fall was caused by the purchase of democratic votes. The Herald certainly has been doing some "Sherlock" work to suddenly discover that Republican hoodie was responsible for the landslide of last year. We wonder if the Herald would be willing to divulge its owl-like information as to where all of this money came from, who used it and just where a little bit of it went.

That charge of wholesale boodling is just about the biggest piece of "tommyrot" pulled by the esteemed Herald since, well, we will say long before "HE KEPT US OUT OF WAR."

Several days ago a small boy of Danville was brutally attacked and almost killed. The father of the seven-year-old lad, claimed to have had an altercation with a negro by the name of Lucien Jenkins, on the date of, or the day before the lad was assaulted. So it was easy enough to have suspicion point toward the negro, who was subsequently arrested.
The attack was so brutal and flead-ish, that the populace of the vicinity
was aroused to the bitterest pitch,
although the helpless negro stoutly maintained his innocence in the face of the most persistent gruelings. Another, a rather feeble minded, by the name of Keith Phillips, was held under suspicion by some of the County and City officials, who nearly always told a different story every time he talked about the matter, and he claimed to have seen a negro beating the boy. An angry and ugly mob, who accepted the naked charge as proof-positive of guilt, formed in Danville for the express purpose of lynching the negro. Owing to rare presence of mind of some of the officials having charge of the apparently doomed prisoner, by the merest chance, by the skin of their teeth so to speak, the mob was eluded and the negro was spirited out a rear door,
past sentinels, with lights turned out,
and safely conveyed to Lexington,
his life saved and Danville escaped
the awful crime of having lynched an innocent and helpless man who was in the hands of the mighty law of the land, only because he happened to be accused. The half-witted, 17-year old Phillips boy has made a complete confession of consulting the crime for which Jenkins came near losing his life. Lessons such as the above ought to make a'l but imbeciles and the most degenerate, exceedingly slow in joining a mob to take a fellow man's life and proves the truth of the age-old adage "Be sure you are right, then go ahead," and if taking time to consider as to what is right, no sane man will ever participate in an unlawful mob. That is where the "be sure you are right" wins out over all mobs and would make them unheard of.

DUKEHURST.

The river is rising rapidly at this point.

A very heavy rain fell here Monday night and Tuesday.

Mr. Andrew Payne was in Calhoun
a few days last week.

Miss Ernestine Ralph spent Sunday with Miss Myrtle Carter.

Mr. Leslie Combs, of Hartford, spent last Thursday here, with his mother, Mrs. M. A. Combs.

Mr. W. F. Cornell returned to Franklin Monday, after spending a few days with his family, here.

Mrs. Alonzo Bartlett, of Owensboro, spent last week with relatives in the Taffy and Bell's Run communities.

Mrs. Otis Helton returned to her home at Dundee, Tuesday, after spending several days with relatives
at Clear Run.

Messrs. Ernest Morris, of Hartford and Albert Morris, of Livermore, are here this week, at the bedside of their father, who is quite ill.

Mr. Bud Taylor, who works on the railroad section, was seriously hurt Tuesday morning when the car on which he was riding left the track, somewhere between here and Suanydale. He was taken to Hartford for treatment and later sent to Madisonville to a hospital. Shelby Lee and Marvin Murphy were also slightly injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Allen entertained the following guests Sunday afternoon: Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Allen and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cephas Vance and son, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Howard and son, Mr. and Mrs.
Rosal Park, Misses Ernestine Ralph,
Myrtle Carter, Lena Combs, Audrey
Murphy, Ethel Vance, Ethelyn Thomas, Margaret Carter, Anna Howard; Messrs. Sam McDowell, Baquet Sullenger, Guy Black.

STRAY STREAKS

(By Fluke McFluke.)

The restaurant of Casebier & Taylor was entered Wednesday night and the cash drawer robbed of $2.00.

W. W. Harris, the Telephone man, bought himself a $2.00 shirt early Thursday morning of Carson & Co.
Now there is no connection between the above paragraph and this, as you see there are three stars separating them.

We wish to very respectfully la-form the Herald Reporter that we have a copyright on Battle Nall.
While we don't mind you using him
occasionally, but don't connect him
with the Beaver Dam switchboard,
as it's too tough on the operator.

There is one thing in this town that is as cheap as before the war: the braad of advice offered by the soap box devote. He is ever ready and always at your side, but should the average layman take all of the free stuff offered ten chances to one it would prove dearer in price than the old H. C. L.

Our venerable old friend, Dr. T. D.
Renfrow, of Cynthiana, was in town Monday and the very first thing he asked us was, "did they bite good yesterday?" He hollered clear across the street too, where a lot of people could hear, as if we would fish on Sunday. The gall and "oncharita-bleness" and evil of some men's mind
is a plum fright.

Some things that you will never hear of happening again: Dowden
Estes being too busy to talk a little;
Uncle Elec Curtis too much engrossed with the steering wheel of his car to look at an attractive Jane; Roll Riley and Nut Hunter leading money without interest; Cal Keown and Bob Gillespie remaining awake during long Sunday sermons; the writer failing to go fishing with half a chance;
Republicans voting for Wilson and Democrats saying he kept us out of war.

It certainly does squelch our nanny to slip an 8 1/2 x 11, single spaced letter, of which we desired to keep a carbon copy, out of our old Oliver,
only to find that we had the daggummed carbon paper down-side up, or out-side in, or something, anyhow
that the copy was stuck on the back side of the original and was wrong end foremost, and inseparable from the one we wanted to send. Even the office Devil seems to know that there is something radically wrong and gives us a wide berth when this happens to us. Glt outen here Bat, or you will get kicked out—consarant.

We remarked, the other day, that this burglarizing epidemic in which the country seemed to be clutched didn't bother us very much, in a personal way, as we had nothing other than our good name to lose, but did hope that no one would rob us of that. Peggy, the linotypist, ejaculat-ed about as follows: That it was a climb that nobody would ever be prosecuted for theft, and not even a case of petty larceny would be considered by the Court. What in Sam Hill do you 'spose she meant, anyway?

We bet Doc Pirtle a pint of raw fishing worms that the river would rise so much, Tuesday night and lost. Doc thinks he has arranged to have a nice batch of red, rigging worms mined from the river bank
somewhere, for some of his fishing
later on, and I don't want to hear what I feel sartin he's going to let forth when he tries to string up some of those nasty, old, black, soft worms
I'm going to dig for him around our ash, bopper and barn lot.

Jack Hudson, of Buford, was in town yesterday and said he did not sleep much the night before, said when he got fairly off in his first good nap his father awoke him to go to the barn and look after the stock,
as he had heard them in some sort of commotion. He crawled out and biked
it to the barn, but all was calm.
He returned, snuggled down 'twixt
the blankets and was soon at it again,
when his parents gave him the stock-
in-trouble alarm the second time when he had to truckle out to the barn the second time, and as at first,
all was quiet and the mules and things at perfect ease. He again returned and no sooner hit the goose-hair than sound asleep he went. After a time he was called again to see what the rumpus was about with the stock at the barn, and for the third time he went to find everything as serene and quiet as the dead hours of night could possibly make things. To the house and to bed again and soon the "Old Folks" were again disturbed by the noise, as they thought, at the barn. Then it was, they did some investigating on their own account. The trouble was soon located and when found it turned out to be Jack snoring, upstairs. He said he knew he snored

a little but didn't think he did it like a mule kicking a box stall down.

CENTERTOWN.

Miss Marie Pate is visiting relatives in Hartford this week.

Squire W. S. Dean, of Dundee, was here Monday, on business.

Mrs. O. M. Bishop was the guest of relatives in Hartford last Wednesday.

Roht. Rowe and wife, of Drakesboro, visited relatives in Centertown
last week-end.

Misses Stella and Iva Gibson, of Hartford were the guests of Mrs.
Earl Tichenor, last Saturday.

Harve Condit has sold his residence on West Main Street to R. H.
Kincheloe. Consideration $2400.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schneider returned Monday from Narrows and Dundee, where they had visited relatives and friends.

Hoas, H. P. Taylor and W. H.
Barney were in town last Tuesday,
on legal business.

Miss Aanoaa Lindley, who is attending school at Livermore, was the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gieger, last Wednesday and Thursday.

Rev. J. J. Willett, of Owensboro, filled the pulpit at the Baptist Church
here, last Sunday and Sunday night.
It was the first time he had been with us since January, on account of the flu epidemic.

JOHNSON ON TOP

Hitchcock Leads Democrats, Bryan
Wins Too, in Neb.

Omaha, Neb., April 21—Senator Hiram W. Johnson continued in the lead for the Republican presidential preference as votes of the Tuesday
primary were slowly received today
by newspapers tabulating the returns.
William J. Bryan had gained enough votes in the day's count to place
him among the first four candidates for delegate-at-large to the San Francisco convention.

With less than one-half of the 1-849 precincts in the state reporting,
Senator Johnson had a lead of 8,645 votes over Gen. Leonard Wood, his nearest competitor, with Gen. John J.
Pershing third.

In the Bryan-Hitchcock race for delegates-at-large, Bryan not only managed to get within the coveted four on the votes counted but found one of his running mates there with him.

Hitchcocks Leads Opponent.

Democratic leaders tonight said the uncompleted returns indicated that former Governor Morehead was a winner in the gubernatorial race by probably the largest plurality of any candidate on the ballot. Republicans also predicted the nomination of Governor McKelvie. The incomplete figures showed that Senator Hitchcock, seeking the presidential endorsement, was leading his opponent, Robert Ross, by almost three votes to one.

headquarters at the Commercial Hotel. It is to be regretted that permanent offices for the concern were not established here, as the addition to Hartford's business would more than likely prove quite beneficial in several ways.

MUNSINGWEAR IS TRUE ECONOMY IN UNDERWEAR

Because of its unusual durability and wearability, its quality of fabric, perfection of fit and finish, together with its moderate price, Munsingwear is enthusiastically endorsed by millions of thrifty
and patriotic Americans.

We have it in many styles
and fabrics for men, women

Hartford, Kentucky.

NOTICE!

Owing to the railroad strike for the last two weeks we were unable to get poultry cars and had to cancel our leading dates at Rosine and Beaver Dam, Ky. But the strike is practically over now and we will have the cars
in Rosine and Beaver Dam on the following dates without fail, as it is our aim to give you more for your poultry than you can get elsewhere, and to prove this statement we will guarantee you at car door these prices cash, and more if the market will justify:

Hens, 34c pound.
Cox, 17c pound.

Rosine, Ky., April 26th and 27th.
Beaver Dam, Ky., April 28th and 29th.

Compare our prices with what you have been selling at and you will readily see it is to your advantage to bring your poultry to our car on above dates. You can weigh your own poultry if you wish, but I cannot pay for feed, as the price is high and I cannot sell heavy-fed poultry in New York.

T. W. WALLACE.

Marlow delivered a fine sermon to a large audience Sunday night.

Mr. J. D. Leach says he has no time to go anywhere, for it keeps him busy watching the markets so as to know how to mark his goods, tend to his own business and let the other fellow alone.

Messrs. Hubert Basham, Everett
Royal and Leslie Kuykendoll left here yesterday for Hull, Texas, where they will be employed in the oil fields. We hope some other boys will follow their example and try to be gentlemen too.

A mad-dog was killed here yesterday by Mr. Russell Earp. So you who have dogs had better keep an eye on them for we don't mind so much to see dogs have fits but we mind very much to see people have them with hydrophobia.

work for the month of April, in six associations in this part of the state. I have given my time to other associations because Brother D. Edgar Allen, the organizer for this county, has and is now pushing this matter as no other organizer that it has been my pleasure to be associated with, and the splendid success achieved by the Baptist of Ohio County is largely due to his untiring efforts, but may I urge, if possible every one who has not done so, to get into the hands of Mr. W. M. Fair, Hartford, Ky., one-fifth of the amount they have pledged so that he can get it to our state secretary by April 30th., and if there should be a Baptist who has not made a pledge in the county society you do not want to be left out of this, the greatest work in all the world. May the piteous walks of the heathen and the command of our once crucified but now risen Lord inspire us to make sacrificial gifts that the lost may be told the way of salvation. At any time I can be of any service to the pastors and churches of Ohio County, either in meetings or evangelistic work I shall gladly do so. With best wishes, I am yours to serve. E. L. FARM DEPARTMENT.

Whitewash Makes The Hen House Sanitary.

Early in the spring, when everything else around the farm is being cleaned and put in shape for the summer, a coat of whitewash will add greatly to the appearance and sanitation of the interior of the poultry house. It is the cheapest of all paints and may be used on the exterior of the building, too, if so desired.

Whitewash is made by sinking about 10 pounds of quicklime in a pail with 2 gallons of water, covering the pail with cloth or burlap and allowing it to slack for one hour. Water is then added to bring the whitewash to a consistency which may be applied readily.

A weatherproof whitewash for exterior surfaces recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture may be made as follows: (1) Slake 1 bushel of quicklime in 12 gallons of hot water; (2) dissolve 2 pounds of common salt and 1 pound of sulphate of zinc in 2 gallons of boiling water; pour (2) into (1), then add 2 gallons of skim milk and mix thoroughly. Whitewash is spread lightly over the surface with a broad brush.

Chicken Flock Requires Plenty Of Fresh Water

Plenty of fresh water should always be accessible to the hens. If supplied irregularly they are likely to drink too much at a time. It should not be exposed to the sun's rays in summer nor be allowed to freeze in winter if this can be avoided.

In very frosty weather it is often worth while to give the flock slightly warmed water two or three times a day rather than permit them to drink water at the freezing point. A flock of 50 hens in a good laying condition will require four to six quarts of water a day, say poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Green cut bone, when fed fresh, makes an excellent substitute for beef scrap in the poultry flock's diet. It must be purchased in small quantities, as it can not be kept fresh for any length of time, especially in warm weather, and when spoiled may cause severe bowel trouble.

Canning The Farm Produce.

It is particularly desirable to can or dry the fruits and vegetables raised on the farm, as the raw products can be gathered and treated when absolutely fresh and at just the proper stage of ripeness and tenderness for best results, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

The average farm family probably cans annually more than 150 quarts of fruits and vegetables, the greater part of which is fruit. Canning clubs have been instrumental in stimulating interest in canning on the farm. The drying of fruits and vegetables, an old farm art until recently on the decline, has been revived quite generally within the past two years. This process offers a good means of preserving perishables without entailing expense for containers, as in canning.

Neighborhood Bulletin Boards As Marketing Aids

A helpful marketing arrangement is employed in certain sections of the South which could be copied with profit in many other parts of the country. At some point in each rural community, usually the schoolhouse, a list of things that persons in the community may have for sale, and a list of commodities that people in the community want to buy are posted on a blackboard. If anything remains unsold or any need is not filled at the end of the week, a list of these items is sent to the county agent. By comparing the reports from the different communities in the county he can frequently bring buyers and sellers in different parts of his county together. In case there is anything that he can not dispose of in this way he reports it to some State agency which issues a weekly or monthly bulletin of "wanted" and "for sale," including, whenever possible, not only inquiries from within its own State but also from neighboring States as well, and does all that it can to bring buyer and seller together.

The variations in factory-butter production in late years have been due largely to the use of milk in the manufacture of other products to meet war needs. The output of factory butter has increased approximately 200,000,000 pounds each 10 years since 1880.

Per acre of production, the gross value of the tobacco crop to producers declined from $68.24 in 1866-1874 to $53.73 in 1895-1904. Then followed rapid rise to $83.60 in 1905-1914, and $120.05 in 1916, $197.92 in 1917, $243.62 in 1918, and $285.37 in 1919, as shown by the Bureau of Crop Estimates, United States Department of Agriculture.

Adjust Crop Acreages

Are the crop acreages of the farm adjusted to each other for highly profitable production?

The efficient adjustment of organization of the crop land will depend on, says the United States Department of Agriculture, the acreage necessary to supply the family and farm needs; the economic importance of enterprises adapted to the region, particularly as to market demand and the relation of prices to costs of production and marketing; the seasonal labor requirements of the enterprises; the supply of labor and its cost; the fertility of the soil; the topography of the farm; and the size of the farm.

Test Seed Before Planting

Practically the only element in crop production that the farmer has completely under his own control is the planting of good seed.

It is important that farm seeds be tested before they are sown. Otherwise, a full crop can not be grown even under the most favorable conditions.

Seed testing for practical results, says the United States Department of Agriculture, can be done more easily than is generally believed.

The essential preparation for making seed tests consists of providing the simple apparatus necessary and of becoming familiar with the general purposes and methods of testing and the features of importance peculiar to tests of particular kinds of seeds. Ask the county agent, or write the Department of Agriculture for a bulletin.

April Crop Report.

The condition of wheat and rye in Kentucky as a whole is very poor, and there are 13 per cent fewer brood sows in the State than there were this time last year, according to the April crop and live-stock report for Kentucky, issued jointly today at Frankfort and Louisville by State Commissioner of Agriculture W. C. Haana and H. F. Bryant, Kentucky field Agent of the United States Bureau of Crop Estimates. Wheat condition in this State April 1 is given as 62 per cent of normal, compared to 103 per cent April 1, 1919, and an average condition of 56 per cent April 1 during the last ten years. Rye condition is 74 this year compared to 100 last year and an average condition of 89 for the last ten years.

The acreage of wheat and rye sowed in Kentucky last fall was very much reduced from previous years, especially in Western Kentucky. This cut in acreage was followed by a rather unfavorable winter, resulting in considerable heaving and freezing out, or by failure to get a good stand because of late sowing.

Farm labor is very scarce in nearly all parts of the State, the poorer sections and those most accessible to other industries being most affected. Farmers in this State as a whole report they have only 87 per cent as much labor as last year and only 72 per cent of a normal supply. There is also some tendency to reduce production as compared to that of war time, farmers reporting they need 98 per cent as much labor as last year, though they say their need for labor is still 1 per cent greater than in normal times.

How To Shadow Turkey Hen To Her Stolen Nest.

Given free range, turkey hens usually secrete their nests in obscure places, such as patches of weeds, tall grass, or bushy thickets, and often wander a half-mile or more from home before they find places that suit them. To find these "stolen" nests is often a long and tedious task, the usual method being to follow each turkey hen as she separates from the flock and starts toward her nest, taking care that she does not know she is observed. A much easier and quicker method than this is to confine the hens early some morning soon after they have come down from roost and let them out late in the afternoon. Those that are laying will then head straight for their nests in order to lay the eggs they have been holding.

If attractive nesting places are prepared about the barnyard, turkey hens sometimes lay in them. In the North where the laying season often begins while there is still snow on the ground, they are more likely to select their nests near home than in the case in the South, as they do not range far during cold weather.

Nests are easily made from boxes or barrels, or by scooping out a little earth in the shape of a shallow bowl and filling brush around it to satisfy the hen's desire for seclusion. Of all nests, however, the one most preferred by turkey hens is a barrel laid on its side and a nest shaped in it with straw or hay, according to U.

S. Department of Agriculture poultry specialists. When only a few turkeys are kept it is the usual custom to allow them free range throughout the breeding and laying season. If many turkeys are kept, however, it is usually found most convenient to use breeding pens or inclosures, in which the turkeys are kept until they have laid their eggs for the day, letting them out late on each afternoon. When confined to a breeding pen several turkey hens often lay in the same nest, but on free range each hen usually makes her own nest.

Standard bred fowls produce uniform products which bring higher prices.

Growth of Tobacco Production.

The first United States census of agriculture, for 1839, found a crop of more than 219,000,000 pounds of tobacco, but in 1849 it was under 200,000,000 pounds. By 1859, it had more than doubled the crop of 1849 and reached 434,000,000 pounds, followed by reduction to 263,000,000 pounds in 1869, in consequence of the Civil War. After that year, production advanced to 368,000,000 pounds in 1899, to 1,056,000,000 pounds in 1909, and 1,439,000,000 pounds in 1918, the largest crop ever raised, as estimated by the Bureau of Crop Estimates, United States Department of Agriculture. The North gained relatively in tobacco production from 1839 to 1879, and rose from 8 to 28 per cent of the total, and thereafter the relative gain was transferred to the South, where it reached 77 per cent of the whole crop in 1914-1918.

Poor Stock, Less Farm Income.

It doesn't pay to grow low-grade or scrub stock of any kind. This statement is made by the United States Department of Agriculture in connection with a series of tests on efficiency in farm management in the South. On 289 dairy farms it was found that 48 farms receiving $50 and less income per cow and labor incomes 45 per cent below the general average. On the other hand, the 28 farms with receipts per cow of more than $120 had labor incomes 75 per cent above the average and were the most profitable of the group. The quality of the live stock kept is one of the 16 points outlined by the department to be tested in determining the efficiency of farm management. Full information concerning the tests is embodied in a new circular of the department.

His Father's Partner Knows Good Pigs From Poor Ones.

The firm of J. Kasper & Sons, farmers located in Medford, Minn., the junior member of the firm, Valdimore Kasper, is 15 years old. He has been a member of one of the pig clubs organized by the United States Department of Agriculture and the State College for two years and knows a good pig when he sees one. His father, like many wise fathers nowadays, has taken his son into partnership with him. The old idea of a father keeping all authority entirely in his own hands until he dies or is forced by illness to turn it over to some one else is slowly becoming a thing of the past. Farm fathers are awakening to the fact that if they want a boy to be contented and to stay on the farm, they can do it by giving him a share of its responsibilities and profits, as well as a share of the work.

Kasper & Sons this winter decided they needed some new hlood in their pig yard. An auction sale of purebred gilts offered an opportunity to acquire the stock they wanted. On the day of the sale the senior member handed Valdimore the company's check book and sent him as the firm's purchasing agent to the auction.

When an uncommonly good gilt was brought into the ring the boy ran the bids for it up to $750. Eventually this pig sold for $1,000. Though he was disappointed in not obtaining the gilt he most wanted, the boy stayed in the game and outbid his competitors for three other gilts that looked good to him. At the conclusion of the sale he wrote a check for $900 and signed the firm's name.

"It's a good day's work and all in a day's business," said the young farmer, as he loaded his purchases and started for home. Pig club boys acquire self-reliance and initiative through their work in the clubs.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

BRITISH ARE FEARING AMERICAN TRADERS

South African Says Yankee Business Men Are Outstripping Englishmen

London April 5.—American trade missions are invading every part of the globe and flooding world markets with literature of all kinds, according to Mr. Harrison, South African representative of the Federation of British Industries. Harrison declares the Americans are far outstripping British manufacturers in the campaign for world trade.

"As a result of the work of these trade missions," Harrison said, "American imports increased from 13.8 per cent for the nine months ended September 30, 1918, to 25.9 per cent for the corresponding period in 1919, while United Kingdom imports fell from 54.6 per cent to 43.6 per cent.

Need of Specialists.

"I can not impress too strongly upon manufacturers the necessity for sending out specialists to examine the trade conditions and keep merchants in touch with buyers.

"South Africa is a country of magnificent possibilities. Remember that from the Equator to the Cape there are millions of blacks who are steadily increasing their demands for boots, shoes, bicycles, sewing machines, etc.

"Another important factor is the rivalry of Japan. During the war she seized the opportunity to send to South Africa quantities of fancy goods, hardware, etc.

Branches In South Africa.

"British manufacturers should lay to heart the necessity of starting branches of their establishments in South Africa. She has vast quantities of raw materials of every kind, and in the new Parliament the question will be raised of increasing the protection of native manufacturers.

"It is a case either of American or British capital being invested in the country.

"South Africa, too, may help to solve the motor fuel problem. She has vast deposits of cheap coal for the manufacture of benzol; she can produce quantities of alcohol from sugar wash and maize.

"If only British manufacturers will turn out the goods a great expansion of trade could result."

SPRING FEVER
Following Colds, Grip or Flu, Thin, Watery or Poisoned Blood
(By Dr. VALENTINE MOTT.)

At this time of year most people suffer from what we term "spring fever" because of a stagnant condition of the blood, because of the toxins (poisons) stored up within the body during the long winter. We eat too much meat, with little or no green vegetables.

Bloodless people, thin, anemic people, those with pale cheeks and lips, who have a poor appetite and feel that tired, worn or feverish condition in the spring-time of the year, should try the refreshing tonic powers of a good alternative and blood purifier. Such a tonic as druggists have sold for fifty years, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a standard remedy that can be obtained in tablet or liquid form. Made without alcohol from wild roots and barks.

Alton Park, Tenn.—"Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cannot be excelled as a tonic and blood purifier. I have taken it as a spring tonic and to purify the blood and it was excellent. I also found it good for stomach trouble. And Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a fine system regulator. I found them especially good for constipation and bilious attacks and they also tone up the liver and drive impurities from the system in a very mild way."—J. S. HUGHES, 114 Rogers St.

GERMANY'S TRICKERY OPPOSED BY FRANCE

Will Have Trouble So Long As She Continues Pol- icy of Deception.

So long as Germany continues her policy of deception and trickery so long will she have trouble. The first revolution which occurred after the armistice was of course nothing but a sham to deceive the allies and lead them to make a soft peace. In that piece of chicanery all that the old military clique did was to hand over the reins of the government to that portion of the Socialists who all along had supported the war and stood loyally behind their party.

Though on the outside the government seemed changed, those in authority continued to work hand in glove with the Junker element. When the minority Socialists with such persons as Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg attempted to start a real revolution the old militaristic gang under the direction of the government suppressed them, and everyone remembers how thoroughly they did it.

Germany continues in a role of a republic to deceive her enemies. The Ebert party was kept in office by the militarists because everyone knew that the country, if ruled openly by the Imperial and military elements, could never get the easy peace that the German leaders hoped to receive under the guise of a republic. Then at the right moment when the allies were sufficiently lulled into unpreparedness they would spring their trap and the world would awake too late to be able to bring about any effective resistance.

But they reckoned without their host, as they often did during the war. The allies didn't give them the soft peace that they expected, but instead, imposed a sentence more severe than the Germans themselves believed their enemies capable of.

It was the gradual awakening of of the laboring class to the duplicity of those in power that caused the decline of Ebert's popularity. A revolt by real revolutionaries threatened and to head it off the military and reactionary heads decided to execute a coup d'etat with Kapp as the leader. Kapp of course was a nobody but he acted under the direction of the militarists.

The Ebert government carried out its part of the program far enough to flee from the capital, but instead of accepting the return of the militarists quietly they proved themselves traitors to their old masters as well as to the people. They called for a general strike and the reactionary revolution became doomed.

But the triumph of Ebert and his party was short-lived, for the real radicals, who were now aroused, were in no mood to accept the government on the old terms. Since the strike was so effective in routing the militarists it could also be made to serve against the Ebert gang, which had come to be universally hated among the workers. The mass of the laboring class therefore determined to continue the struggle until the military forces under Noske were dispersed and the government placed beyond control of the old Prussian body.

Ebert and his party have had their hands full in conquering this menace. Lives by the thousands have been sacrificed and millions in property destroyed. Desperate fighting is yet going on in separate localities, chiefly around Essen, from which city the red forces have lately been driven. Pillaging and brutal outrages are being perpetrated on the citizens by the retreating bands. It is said that the reds lost over 300 in the fighting with government forces in the vicinity of Peltum. It is the presence of the reichswehr, or old Imperial troops, which is said to be driving the radicals to frenzied madness.

But through the government forces were everywhere waning, Berlin, never satisfied without seeing how far she can tread on the interests of others, proposed putting her troops into the neutral zone. Franco protested that the move was unnecessary but Germany declared otherwise, insisting that the forces were needed to deliver a crushing blow against the reds and to assist in protecting the civilians from marauding bands which were spreading terror in the region.

England, Italy and the United States raised no objections, but France had no faith in Germany's promises that the move would be simply for preserving order in the district. So the German foreign office was informed that such a step could be permitted only on condition that allied forces occupy certain German cities in return. It was felt that Germany had already acted in such bad faith in carrying out her part of the peace treaty that to allow her to get such an advantage now might turn the tide of the whole war in her favor.

The treaty which Germany signed provided among other things that the German regular army should be reduced to 100,000 men by March 31. Instead of complying, as she had agreed to do, Germany's army comprises nearly 400,000 standing troops, besides additional land forces of the regular navy, an armed constabulary of between 40,000 and 50,000, between 150,000 and 200,000 in army reserves and from 300,000 to 400,000 in the civil guards. In all there are about 1,000,000 men in Germany available for quick military service.

Again, in the matter of arms, the treaty required Germany to surrender all but 54,000 rifles and 18,000 carbines. It has been learned that at least 1,000,000 rifles were hidden. There is also plenty of ammunition, as well as airplanes, and the allied commissioners recently found several thousand three-inch guns secreted in various parts of the country.

So France's refusal to allow German forces to come into the neutral zone is apparent. But Germany again showed her lack of wisdom by persisting, regardless of the fact that she was committing another breach of the treaty in the face of repeated warnings. She evidently relied on the sympathy of the other nations to save her from being punished.

France, however, believing that her life would be at stake if such a treacherous enemy were allowed to bring a large force into the territory, took the matter into her own hands and, without waiting to learn whether the allies would support her or not, moved her army forward and occupied Frankfurt, Darmstadt, Homburg and other cities which lie immediately in front of the French zone. No opposition was encountered. The only German troops that were met were volunteers in Frankfurt who at once surrendered.

Germany registered a vehement protest, as she usually does when things don't suit her. She professed complete amazement at the action and accused France of making political capital out of Germany's internal conditions. Such a move will meet with the strongest condemnation by right-thinking men and women everywhere, Chancellor Mueller asserted. He predicted the beginning of an era of international anarchy should the allied governments tolerate "this act of French aggression."

Premier Millerand notified Berlin that the French troops would evacuate the cities as soon as the Germans withdraw from the neutral zone. The German government is charged with giving way to pressure by the military party and also infringing "the imperative and most solemn stipulations of the Versailles treaty." Germany was reminded that had the disarmament clauses of the treaty been faithfully carried out there would have been neither a Kapp insurrection nor a red army in the Ruhr. One of the main objects in opposing Germany's occupation of the neutral territory is to bring the Berlin government to a due respect of the treaty. It is stated.

The French occupying forces number between 15,000 and 18,000. These consist largely of cavalry, with detachments of infantry for occupation of the various centers and artillery as a precautionary measure. When asked who would pay the expenses of the occupation, Premier Millerand replied: "Why, Germany, obviously, since it was she that by her acts obliged us to resort to coercion."

TEACHER QUILTS TO GO ON STAGE AT $112 A WEEK

New York, April 17—Because her pay of $15.34 a week forced her to resign as school teacher, Miss Florence B. Brewer, is now drawing $112 a week in vaudeville.

"I like my pupils," Miss Brewer said today. "But teaching is a luxury I couldn't afford. The public will pay for entertainment, but not for education, so I had to stop teaching children for the better paying business of singing for their parents."

While teaching, Miss Brewer used her spare time in singing lessons and dramatic instruction.

FORMER MAYOR INDORSES TANLAC

"You Will Hardly Know Me When We Meet Again; For I Am Getting Well," He Writes Friend

One of the latest additions to the list of leaders of thought and action who have come forward with their unqualified endorsement of Tanlac is the name of Hon. Frank V. Evans, former Mayor of Birmingham, Ala., ex-State Examiner of Public Accounts of Alabama, and at one time editor of one of the South's greatest newspapers, The Birmingham Age-Herald.

Writing to a personal friend in Atlanta, Mr. Evans says:

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 2nd.
".....By the way, you will hardly know me when we meet again, because I am getting so well and strong again. As I told you while in Atlanta last month, I have been suffering a long time with gastritis, as the doctors call it—really a disordered stomach with consequent constipation, pains in the shoulders, headache, belching, heartburn, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, and fainting spells. For weeks I could not sleep on my back.

"One week ago, upon recommendation of friends who had tried the medicine, I purchased one bottle of Tanlac and began taking it. Since my second dose I have suffered none of these troubles to which I refer, and really believe I am going to get perfectly well and strong again. Won't that be wonderful at my age? Well, certain it is that Tanlac is a wonderful medicine, and you know I am not given to 'puffing' mere experiments and am rather orthodox as to materia medica.

"I shall continue the treatment with perfect confidence in the final results."

Signed "Frank V. Evans."
Tanlac is sold in Hartford by Dr. L. B. Bean, in Horse Branch by Olton Drug Co., in Rockport by James Browning, in Cromwell by Wallace & Porter and in Beaver Dam by R. T. Taylor, Jr.—Advertisement.

PERRY COUNTY ISOLATED BY VARIOLA EPIDEMIC

An epidemic of smallpox that has menaced five other counties will result in establishment of a rigid quarantine against Perry County by the State Board of Health unless conditions are much improved by noon tomorrow, Dr. A. T. McCormack announced late yesterday.

Dr. McCormack said the epidemic has been slowly but steadily gaining in the last two months, and that county authorities have ignored admonitions from the Board of Health to take all possible precautions.

Following receipt of complaints from Leslie, Harlan, Clay, Knott and Laurel, adjoining counties, Dr. McCormack yesterday sent Dr. J. I. Whittenberg, State Sanitary Inspector, to Hazard with instructions to quarantine the county against communication with the outside world if the epidemic is not abated Monday.

Dr. Whittenberg was instructed to make the quarantine complete if he deemed it advisable to quarantine at all, and to stop all trains from receiving or discharging passengers anywhere in the county, and stop automobile or pedestrian travel in and out of the county.

Dr. McCormack said every resident of the county must show a live vaccination mark or be vaccinated over again when Dr. Whittenberg arrives at Hazard tomorrow.

MILLIONS SOUGHT FOR CHURCH WORK

The campaign to raise $366,000, 000 for the purpose of spreading

Christianity into all the dark places of the world was launched at Washington by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and his "flying squadron." At a dinner for 600 persons prominent in the affairs of the church and the nation, the program of the Interchurch World Movement was explained.

Former Secretary of State Lansing presided and his first public appearance as a private citizen was greeted with enthusiasm. Mr. Rockefeller explained that the movement is not something above and beyond the churches but the creation and the servant of the churches. "The churches are beginning to realize," he said, "just as business men have done, that competition is expensive and that in this day co-operation is the only method by which great things can be done with economy and efficiency." The fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man formed the keynote of his talk.

Another speaker, Dr. John Mott, the eminent social worker, said that the expression, "self-determination," had evoked more hope and spread more despair than any other phrase. Mr. Rockefeller and his party represented 30 co-operating denominations and started a tour of the principal cities of the country in behalf of the movement. The first use to be made of the money is to complete a church survey of the world. Then will follow a united program of Christian work to save the world for Christ.

How Diphtheria Is Contracted.

One often hears the expression, "My child caught a severe cold which developed into diphtheria," when the truth was that the cold had simply left the little one particularly susceptible to the wandering diphtheria germ. If your child has a cold when diphtheria is prevalent you should take him out of school and keep him off the street until fully recovered, as there is a hundred times more danger of his taking diphtheria when he has a cold. When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given it quickly cures the cold and lessens the danger of diphtheria or any other germ disease being contracted.

OPTOSE PROPOSED ADVERTISING TAX

New York, April 17.—A protest against the Thompson bill, which would impose a tax on advertisers, was sent to the House Ways and Means Committee by representatives of the twenty-one departments of advertising who attended a meeting of the National Advertising Commission in Cleveland on April 1. The protest was signed by W. Frank McClure, chairman; Homer J. Buckley, vice chairman, and P. S. Florea, secretary. It declared the commission was opposed to the passage of the bill, "for the reason that advertising is a part of salesmanship and such a tax would be in effect a tax upon selling and would operate to reduce production at a time when the government is doing everything in its power to encourage production."

Recognizing the value of the training of prospective advertisers in advertising and marketing in universities, colleges, high schools and other institutions, and believing that there is an urgent need for a general standardization of prevailing methods and instruction in this field, the Advertising Commission directed its educational committee to investigate this matter, making plans which will result in an improvement of the present system. Charles H. Mackintosh, chairman of the educational committee, and co-operating members, will seek the assistance of all teachers of advertisers.

Surgeons agree that in cases of cuts, burns, bruises and wounds the first treatment is most important. When an efficient antiseptic is applied promptly, there is no danger of infection and the wound begins to heal at once. For use on man or beast, Borozone is the ideal antiseptic and healing agent. Buy it now and be ready for an emergency. Price 25c, 50c, $1.00 and $1.50. Sold by Ohio County Drug Company.

HOUSE VOTES INCREASE IN WAR RISK PAYMENTS

Washington, April 16.—By unanimous vote the House today passed a bill increasing by $20 a month, the war risk insurance payment of the government to 25,000 disabled soldiers and sailors now receiving vocational rehabilitation. Under the measure, which now goes to the Senate, single men would receive $100 a month, and married men $120. Various organizations of world war veterans supported the bill.

One morning the mess sergeant found the two Greek cooks quarreling. "You fellows are always having trouble," he said. "Stop this fighting and let's have a little harmony." "See, that's what I say," answered one. "I say give 'em hominy, and this fellow he say give 'em rice!"—Legion Weekly.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS OUT FOR WET PLANK

Delegates Will Go To Convention
Prepared To Make Fight on W. J. Bryan.

New York, April 16.—That the New York State delegation to the Democratic National Convention, to be held in San Francisco, June 28 intends to fight hard for a "wet" plank in the National platform was made clear today when the Democratic State Committee met at the Hotel Knickerbocker and reorganized.

Although there was no open discussion of national politics or candidates, several of the members who are delegates frankly stated after the meeting that they would go to San Francisco prepared to fight William Jennings Bryan "to a standstill" on the prohibition issue.

Not only will the New York Democratic leaders insist on a liberal interpretation of the Volstead act to include beer and light wines, and even spirituous liquors for medical and other purposes if used in the home, being incorporated in the platform, but they will demand a plank calling for a referendum on the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Leaders are fully aware that such a course will precipitate bitter fight in the convention, but they maintain that the party will go down to sure defeat if it is not done.

Norman E. Mack, Buffalo, National Committeeman for New York, voiced the sentiments of a number of the members of the State committee when he declared he was for a "wet" plank.

More sentiment was expressed by members of the committee for Mr. McAdoo than for any other candidate, but it came principally from up-State members.

There was no hitch at reorganization of the State Committee. Chairman William W. Farley, Binghamton, was re-elected unanimously.

For the stomach and bowel disorders of babies McGee's Baby Elixir is a remedy of genuine merit. It acts quickly, is pure, wholesome and pleasant to take. Price 25c and 50c per bottle. Sold by Ohio County Drug Co.

CHURCH GAINS SMALL

It had been observed in most of the churches during and after the war that there was a decided falling-off in interest in religious matters. It was harder than ever to get the men to come to church, and even the women were running off after the false gods and worshipping at the altar of mammon. Now the figures for Protestant church membership for 1919, just reported by Dr. H. K. Carroll the statistician, confirm this unsatisfactory situation.

The total increase in membership in the Protestant denominations for the year was only 56,000, against an average increase in the last 10 years of nearly 800,000. This was the smallest increase in 30 years. Some of the leading denominations suffered the heaviest losses. Among these were the Methodists, who lost about 70,000; Methodists South 16,000; Northern Presbyterians 32,000; Presbyterians South 9,000; Disciples 18,000; Northern Baptists 9,000; National Baptists 35,000; United Presbyterians 3,000; Cumberland Presbyterians 2,000; Norwegian Lutherans 3,000, etc.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

The great benefit derived from the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been gratefully acknowledged by many. Mrs. Benjamin F. Blakeley, Decatur, Ill., writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is by far the best medicine for colds and coughs we have ever used in our family. I give it to my children when small for croup and have taken it myself."

MIS DAY OF FATE

Mickie Will Remember Incident as Great Victory.

After All, Fear Is as Tough an Enemy as Some Boys as the Beches—Encouragement Will Work Wonders.

I cut down the woods road lined by maples and enphancements to see the boys before they started on their raid. I went to the very end of the woods, but I was too late. There, far down the white road, I could see the little black figures swishing along, Maude Bradford, Warren writes in the Saturday Evening Post. One, at the end, seemed much larger than the others. Then I could see that it was coming back. I waited. Soon I saw that the figure was Mickie. He came toward me, his head bowed.

"What's the trouble, Mickie?" I asked.

"Forgot my gas mask," he mumbled, "and the lieutenant sent me back."

He didn't meet my eyes; poor little Mickie, only nineteen, hating rats and jumping at a loud noise, lazy and soft and fond of an easy bed! I put my hand on his arm.

"Er, Mickie," I said, "last time you were chosen for a party—the first time you were put on a real job—you had cramps. A boy with an Irish name shouldn't act this way. Don't you know that the boys already suspect you, and that the lieutenant is only giving you the benefit of the doubt? The next time something like this happens to you he'll be certain, and then he'll put you in all the dangerous places. If you run away then he'll have you shot for cowardice. If you would just face it once you'd feel different. Nothing is ever so bad when we are going through it as we thought it would be before we got to it. Please, Mickie, take my gas mask and go back."

All honor to the poor shaky lad that he did not try to excuse himself on the ground that I should need the gas mask myself. He let me fasten it on him. When I lent him my lucky four-leaf clover to wear as a mascot, and without speaking at all he started back down the white road.

I returned through the woods, and any woman will know my thoughts: What if anything should happen to Mickie? What would his mother feel if she knew the responsibility I had taken? And why, if one came to that, had any woman the right to pray: "New death to my son, O, God; some other woman's son?"

If I had a son of soldier age I hope I'd have the courage not to pray for him except deep down. And I'm glad the mothers and wives and sweethearts of all those soldier lads are thousands of miles away from the battlefields. It's sort of wearing to see a man you were put on his weapons and turn his back to you and walk down a camouflaged road. The real comfort in that after all the danger is very much less than it seems. We have to remember always that a small percentage of men are badly wounded; a smaller still killed, and the huge majority of shells and bullets never harm anything except earth and trees.

Mickie was chattering of his adventures with his chin up when I next saw him. It was not the same Mickie. Only he would not meet my eyes. I found my gas mask later on the Y. To this hour Mickie has needed me; he cannot forgive me because I saw his greatest shame and the beginning of his conquering. Some day he will.

Life of Concrete Ship.

A false impression seems to have been taken from some remarks of R. J. Wigg, chief engineer of the concrete ship division of the Emergency Fleet corporation, relative to the short life of a concrete ship. He says, in correcting this error, "that experiments and investigations have shown that concrete ships will last a minimum of several years without any protection whatever. The application of protective coatings are certain to extend their life several years, and with the further developments of protective coatings upon which we are now working, I believe the concrete ship can be made as permanent as steel, if not more so. He further stated that if this concrete ship is built of the new concrete mixture developed by the Emergency Fleet corporation, the ship will be 20 per cent lighter than the wooden ship."

BOARD OF HEALTH

Has Issued Clean-Up Week Proclamation.

WHEREAS, the winter's accumulation of decaying filth and refuse in alleys and streets of cities and towns, and especially in and about the back premises of almost all homes, rich or poor, in cities, towns and country districts, constitutes an annually recurring menace to the health, life and comfort of the entire population of Kentucky, which easily and inexpensively can be hauled away and spread upon gardens and farms where it is much needed if all classes of the people will lend a hand in the work, now,

THEREFORE, be it known that the State Board of Health, by virtue of authority vested in it by law, hereby joins the State Federation of Women's Clubs in designating and proclaiming the period from April 26th to May 2nd as "Clean-Up-Week" this to include huling and whitewashing, for every home in Kentucky; and in this health and life saving work the Board earnestly appeals for the full and active co-operation for the entire week of all city and county officials, day and Sunday school teachers and pupils—their duty to begin with the school house and grounds so as to make them models for the community—preachers and their church members, Women's Clubs, Red Cross chapters, newspapers, and every family, and especially asking city and town officials and heads of families to furnish teams and the heavy labor necessary in hauling off the refuse which, with this encouragement, the women and children can be relied upon to collect at accessible places; and the Board urges that the press, women's clubs, clergy and teachers give this proclamation such publicity as will make it effective; with the plea that the clean-up be repeated monthly until cold weather sets in next fall, except that it be weekly as to the manure in all stables where horses are kept in order to put an end to the breeding of flies.

GIVEN UNDER OUR HANDS and the Seal of the Board, this 20th day of April, 1920.

JOHN G. SOUTH, M. D.,

President,

A. T. McCORMACK, M. D.,

BEADS ODDLY STRUNG

(By I. D. Claire.)

I heard Saturday that Slim was in Louisville, and looked anxiously for him but was not able to locate him. I did not know just where to look for him like I used to.

"Specks" asked me the other day if I thought Tins would stick to Hartford n lifetime, and I told him I thought he would unless he moved to the mouth of Grassy, and "Specks" jest laughed.

My boy says he never sees a mention in the Republican of the "Popcorn Kling" that it doesn't remind him of the time he used to work for hours scolding off the tops of the Kaiser's sacks.

I was worried a good deal about the women being allowed to vote on account of the Madam being a Democrat, till I happened to think she would want a new fall hat along about election time, and then I felt easier.

Dropped in on "Specks" while over at Louisville the first of the week, and was pretty proud to find the former Hartford groceryman running one of the biggest wholesale shebangs on Main Street. I am always glad to meet an old Hartford boy, even if I find him in the penitentiary.

I usually find something amusing, as well as many things interesting, in the old sheet that Tins and me used to run in partnership. Among the latest of such features was Tins' clever mention of the fiscal court attending a meeting of the tractor and culvert salesmen, and the Bida correspondent's comment on Brother Snell's "regular" sermon.

I went Sunday evening to see a woman with whom I have been very much in love for several years, and was delighted to see her. She is a beauty, too, and other men besides myself are crazy about her. It was the charming Miss Clara Kimball Young, and I saw her at the Strand, in Louisville. O, I had the Madam with me, and she wasn't a bit jealous.

I have about made up my mind to be for Lowden or Harding. I am not particular which, for president, provided Tom Sweatt don't run. Tom, you know, used to be the cleverest fellow in Morgantown, and has now since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, been in the office of the Surveyor of the Port, at Louisville. Well, I came away from Louisville Monday afternoon with about ten pounds of fair premium tobacco, three years old, and the credit goes to Tom. If Bill Keene, Jim Carter, Frank Wallace, Miles Crowder, or a number of other Ohio county fellows I have much cause to remember with gratitude, want to run for vice president, I am for them, but I am for Sweatt first, last and all the time, for first place.
